The residence, in detail.

550 Gaj of Generous Space in the Heart of Punjabi Bagh Some properties are simply built to be lived in — comfortably, generously, and for a long time. This 550 Gaj property in East Punjabi Bagh, New Delhi, is one of them. A clean exterior facade sets a composed first impression, while inside, the spaces open up in ways that a family can genuinely grow into. The living areas are well-proportioned, the kitchen is ready to work around, and the bathroom is neatly finished. What makes this property stand apart is the rooftop terrace — a private, open space that becomes whatever your family needs it to be: morning tea, evening gatherings, or simply room to breathe. A glass staircase connects the upper floor living area to its own terrace access, giving the home a sense of flow that is both practical and considered. At 550 Gaj, there is real room here — not just square footage on paper, but liveable, adaptable space in one of West Delhi's most established addresses. Price is available on request — reach out today to arrange a visit to East Punjabi Bagh.
